I. Meeting Called to Order

A. Introductory Remarks – Mark Kaprielian

President Mark Kaprielian welcomed those present to the meeting. He outlined his intent to run an efficient and productive meeting. He explained that he felt comfortable in the role of moderator for the meeting, as he has had a great deal of experience in that role for the various organizations he has been involved in.

B. Introduction of all present – members introduce themselves

All present introduced them selves.

C. Explanation of the meeting process – Mark Kaprielian

Mark distributed several full copies of the Policies and Procedures document and called attention to the section pertaining to the rules of order. A Quick Reference diagram was also distributed. He explained that only one person at a time should ever be speaking. That person is said to “have the floor”. When someone is the lead speaker for a topic, they are in effect, for the time of the discussion, also serving as a temporary moderator. The central moderator will attempt to be passive but will step in should guidance or assistance be necessary. Whoever should happen to be speaking at any given moment should be short and concise in making their opinion known. The moderator may decide that it is time for someone else to have the floor and recognize someone else to speak. Anyone wishing to speak prior to someone else concluding should raise his or her hand to be recognized and potentially be given the floor to speak.

D. Review of Agenda – Mark Kaprielian

No items were added to the agenda.

II. Reports

A. Correspondence Chess Program – Harvey Reed

Harvey related his experience playing and some of those of the others participating and explained about some of the types of play that is available through different organizations. He views the current involvement of the players as an experiment. So far there has been positive feedback. Weekly updates to the web site are made for viewing the games. If things continue will, thought will be put into establishing it as a formal MCC program.

B. GAP program – Mark Kaprielian

The charter for the program has been posted on the web for some time. So far, only one game since its inception in June has been submitted. Some discussion about various aspects was held such as low submittal rate and comparisons to earlier efforts where we just grabbed games and entered them ourselves. We like the idea, but don't know why people don't submit. Howard Goldowsky suggested we open it up to players of all ratings, not just the lower half. Some discussion about use of technology and question about promoting was also occurred.

C. Incorporation Status – Mark Kaprielian

Time was taken for people to read report. Few questions were asked.

D. Membership Status – Mark Kaprielian

Time was taken for people to read report. Some questions were asked about strengthening attracting higher players were asked. Mark asked people to read the recent “position paper” authored by Sisto, Reed, Kaprielian posted on the web. A question about goals for membership was deferred to later in the meeting. Newbie pricing, early encouragement, benefits of membership, book discounts were discussed.

E. Program Director's report – Neil Cousin / Mark Kaprielian

Refer to the Reports document for this Meeting

General approval of the break points, some discussion about exceptional cases that can't be avoided, the discussion (we don't), what about grand prix? We stopped doing it because we were previously in heavy recruiting mode for high rated players

F. Study Group program – John Chamberlain

Time was taken for people to read report. Discussion about getting game scores (recurring issue), how to keep the lower and higher rated people satisfied in the group. Average rating of attendees estimated at around 1300.

G. Summer Scholastics Program – Mark Kaprielian

Mark mentioned that the program was a success and well received. He directed people to read Alan Hodge's report on the web for the particulars. He mentioned that Alan's thoughts on the programs would be posted on the web site some time after the October issue of Chess Horizons in which it appears has been out. A question was asked if we could list the program as a benefit of club membership. The general consensus was that no, it is not of specific benefits to our membership.

H. TD Status – Mark Kaprielian

Time was taken for people to read report. A lengthy discussion about how to identify who the TDs. Mark stressed education, and posting TD on duty. Mark will work with TDs to resolve the issue of how to identify the TD on duty and what to do about the period when time control is likely being reached. John Chamberlain stated that he felt being able to identify the TD would increase the 'clubbiness' of the club.

I. Financial Status - Mark Kaprielian

Time was taken for people to read report. Mark explained the general workings of the clubs finances and the relationship of club dues and tournament income to expenses. John Chamberlain volunteered to create a balance sheet for this fiscal year.

J. Site report – Mark Kaprielian

An ad hoc report was requested on about our site was requested. Mark reported that we have been and continue to be in a good relationship with the Senior Center. Some cleanup issues and one pool table issue are the only matters that we've had to deal with in our time at the center. Our responsibility is to leave site clean, orderly and secure. Mark said that we have indefinite permission from the Dir, but the situation is in control of the town of Natick and could easily change.
